

eSchoolPlus Out-of-District Access

To access eSchoolPlus at home, you will need to manually type in the web address – it will not be in Favorites.

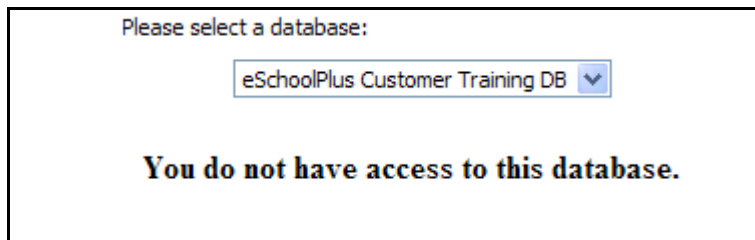

<https://eschoolplus.channelview.isd.esc4.net/eschoolplus>

On your school computer, your username may already be saved. However, at home you will need to type in your full username including the @cisdnets part.

The screenshot shows a Windows-style dialog box titled "Connect to cvisd.CISDNET". It contains a "User name:" field and a "Password:" field. A red arrow points from the text "first initial, last name @cisdnets" and "EX: jsmith@cisdnets" to the "User name:" field. Another red arrow points from the text "first, middle, and last initial & last 4 social" and "EX: jls5976" to the "Password:" field. The dialog also includes a "Remember my password" checkbox and "OK" and "Cancel" buttons.

The first time you log in at home you will see this message:

The screenshot shows a message box with the text "Please select a database:" followed by a dropdown menu showing "eSchoolPlus Customer Training DB". Below the dropdown, the message "You do not have access to this database." is displayed in bold.

Use the drop down menu to choose CISD Live DB, and click OK.

PLEASE NOTE:

- ☒ The out-of-district access will not work in-district. Do not try to use the out-of-district access while at work.
- ☒ The in-district access will not work at home. Do not try to use the in-district access while at home.
- ☒ In-district (<http://cvisd/eschoolplus/>) and out-of-district (<https://eschoolplus.channelview.isd.esc4.net/eschoolplus>) are two different web addresses.
